

Fact Sheet

Trade Waste Service Agents

Council monitors compliance with pre-treatment device cleaning and service frequencies, which are stated in the Trade Waste Approval Notice.

Additional non-compliance charges may be incurred if services are not performed at the required frequency.

Trade waste properties and businesses must:

- Use an agent which is registered with Council's electronic data tracking system WastelD;
- ensure that the agent scans the WastelD tag on the device when they complete the work; and
- advise Council if the WastelD is missing or no longer scans correctly, so that it can be replaced. (It is possible for an agent to record a service without scanning by searching for the device identification label).

Below are lists of registered transporters and service agents currently operating in Redland City. Other agents may be used provided that they use WastelD.

Liquid Waste Transporters

As well as using Council's data tracking system, liquid waste transporters must be appropriately licenced.

- B&Y Waste Services **
- Cleanaway
- Elite Liquid Waste
- Global Waste Services
- JJ's Waste and Recycling
- Lee's Environmental **
- Master Drain Blaster

Other Service Agents

Oil-water separators, flow diversion valves, electromagnetic flow meters, and chemical treatment systems must be serviced at the frequency recommended by the supplier:

- Australian EPA Services
- Award Plumbing and Drainage
- Clearwaste
- Jimboomba Industrial Pty Ltd

They must however, be serviced by an external agent who uses Council's tracking system at least once a year. Intermediate services may be done internally.

Bulk Waste Oil Collection

Businesses which generate waste oil must have a system for its disposal. This is not tracked by Council but is checked during inspections.

Oil recycling agents may offer free provision of containers, and collection.

Below is a list of waste oil collection businesses operating in Redland City. This list may be subject to change.

- Auscol Pty Ltd
