Wild encounters

Redlands Wildlife Rescue needs your help in caring for sick, injured and orphaned native animals.

This great service depends on volunteers and involvement can be very rewarding.

You can either man the phones for the Redlands Wildlife Care Network working from home on a roster to provide advice, or you can volunteer for the Redlands After-hours Wildlife Ambulance.

The ambulance operates from 5pm to 8am each day, providing emergency rescue and transport for sick and injured wildlife.

New volunteers must attend an induction session.

If you are interested in joining the Redlands Wildlife Rescue Service, contact Lisa Bailey at Redlands IndigiScapes Centre on 3824 8611.

Coochiemudlo Jetty progress

We should soon see progress on the new Coochiemudlo Island and Victoria Point jetties.

The designs are being finalised and, at the time of writing, the Department of Transport and Main Roads (DTMR) are planning to call tenders in late April.

The tendering period for the welcome upgrades to these important transport links is scheduled to close four weeks later.

This will be followed by a further evaluation period before the contract is awarded. The DTMR anticipates the contractor being able to commence on site in July/August.

This will mean the facilities - which with the associated dredging collectively form one of the biggest projects now underway in the Redlands - is expected to be operating before the end of the year.

This $3.5 million project is being delivered through a partnership between Redland City Council and DTMR and will provide a new all-weather, covered ferry terminal for islanders and visitors, with disability access.

Council set aside $1.75 million for its share of the project in this year's Budget. DTMR is responsible for constructing the jetty, and it will become a Council-owned facility once complete.

Importantly, the dredging work in March/April will ensure access in all tides, which has been a major problem.

The old jetty will be demolished once the new jetty is completed. For updates on the project keep an eye on my Facebook page. You will also find the Coochiemudlo Jetty design and construction proposals on Council's website at www.redland.qld.gov.au

Get active for a Redlands charity

It's time to break out the joggers and get ready for what is fast becoming one of our area's biggest charity events; The Victoria Point Community Branch of Bendigo Bank - Run for Redlands-48 Hour Charity Festival.

Organised by the Bayside Runners & Walkers and this year based at the Sharks Sporting Club, Victoria Point, there will be a host of activities on May 23-25. In particular, a politician's wheelie bin race should be a real crowd-pleaser.

Importantly, this year's event has two very worthy local beneficiaries in the Redlands Hospital Paediatric Department and the Redland's Centre for Women.

The festival's opening ceremony and gala dinner will coincide with the Run for Redlands relay start on the Friday, with special guests, concerts, food, kid's activities and other stalls at the Sharks as the relay continues through the weekend. The event's special breakfast launch is on May 2 at the Redlands RSL, Cleveland. Contact me for more details.

Last year the relay raised more than $10,000 for the Queensland Flood Appeal, with this year promising to be much bigger.

Bayside Runners & Walkers are a social group of like-minded locals from kids to seniors who meet at 6am on Saturdays at the end of Colburn Avenue, Victoria Point, for a 40 to 50-minute run or walk.
